

DEPARTMENT IS A SUCCESS

New Engineering Course at Richmond College Meeting Every Expectation.

THIS THE LOGICAL PLACE

And Richmond College the Logical Institution for Such Instruction.

The new technical department instituted in Richmond College this session is progressing very favorably, and is already showing the wisdom of President Boatwright in beginning the establishment of such a department. The Science Hall is a model structure for this work. It is large, well ventilated, well lighted, and the rooms have the proper amount of pitch. The building, though the course is in its infancy, is furnished with many modern mechanical appliances, and these are continually added to front funds devoted to that purpose.

The engineering course as it now stands embraces freehand and mechanical drawing, practical mechanics and electricity, advanced chemistry and physics, biology and the complementary courses in the regular academic curriculum. The courses in chemistry, physics and mathematics have been enlarged to meet the requirements of this new projected department. And it is contemplated that the course will be so extended from time to time that in about two years a complete engineering course will be established.

GENEROUS SUMS EXPENDED. To show that the course is being developed, may be noted the facts that $25,000 have been expended in the building, $6,000 on appliances, and that $10,000 have been appropriated as an interest-bearing fund to meet, as far as possible, the running expenses of the department.

Mr. Frank Z. Brown, S. B. E. E., has charge of mechanical and drawing. In this class there are forty students, and in the advanced class of mechanics there are three men. The fewness of the latter is explained by the fact that the course requires much advanced work in mathematics and few in the academic courses, who cared to take the department and extend their study in this department.

WANTS COMPLETE DEPARTMENT. In speaking of this course and its projected development, President Boatwright said that with an appropriation of $100,000 the technical department could be established on a complete basis, embracing a complete course in applied mechanics and engineering. Towards the accomplishment of this President Boatwright is heading every effort. Two years ago when the plan was as yet an idea in his mind President Boatwright read a paper before the Board of Visitors embodying his plans, and setting forth strong arguments why this course should be established at Richmond College. His ideas met with the approval of the faculty and the concurrence of the Visitors in so far as the present course is established. President Boatwright said that Richmond College was the logical place for such a department, and that the establishment of an engineering school in Eastern Virginia. It is bound to come, said Mr. Boatwright, for Richmond offers such opportunities that educational men cannot long be oblivious to the fact. "The Richmond locomotive works, the Traction Engine Works, the Triggs Shipyard and other places of the kind offer well recognized advantages, if such a school were established here. Then why not found one in Richmond, said Dr. Boatwright, and if founding it here, why not establish it at, and make it a department of Richmond College, the logical place for it."

AT THE MECKLENBURG.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) THE MECKLENBURG, CHASE CITY, VA., Nov. 5.—The places of the summer season here are now being rapidly filled up these most delightful of autumn season days, by sportsmen from many parts of the country.

"Bob Whites" feathers are strong enough to fly with the flock. The burden of business is forgotten for field and fun with the dogs and gun, with horn and hound day brought many sportsmen to the "Mecklenburg," with many more arriving since, and who have been aided and secured the feathers of the first flushed, while others have aimed for bigger game; some having been contented with quail, while the more ambitious and practiced and hardy hunters have been on the deer trail this week; but fox hunting has also been indulged in by several parties, all of which game abounds in this neighborhood.

Every day is ample and the best pack of hounds in the State belongs to the field, and surely it is well worth more than a week's wages and loss of a little time to ride behind such melodious mouthed and lusty lunged music makers.

RHEUMATISM IS NOT A SKIN DISEASE.

Several years ago I was afflicted with what the doctors called Sciatic Rheumatism, or Lumbago, suffering the most intense agony at times, and being confined to my bed about a year, although four of the best physicians (one of whom was my father) attended me during my illness.

They could give me only temporary relief, and I think they tried about all the remedies known to medical science, dosing me with strong medicine until my stomach got into such a condition that I could digest nothing, and neither myself nor my friends had any hope of my recovery. I was persuaded to try S. S. S., and before finishing the first bottle I found that I had the right remedy. I continued to take it until it cured me perfectly. This was about nine years ago, and I have been in splendid health ever since.

J. D. MANSON.

I was terribly afflicted with Rheumatism for eighteen months, and during my sickness tried the skill of many good physicians, all of whom pronounced my case hopeless. I was for a year in such a helpless condition that I was unable to dress or feed myself. I had filled at different times 52 prescriptions suggested by friends, none of them giving me any relief. I finally decided to include S. S. S., and took the first bottle while hobbling about on crutches. After taking two bottles I found a much relief I was able to relinquish the use of one crutch, and a faithful continuance of the medicine relieved me of the other crutch, and shortly afterwards enabled me to go to my work. I have had no return of Rheumatism, although this was five years ago.

Fiery liniments, drawing plasters and penetrating oils never cured a case of Rheumatism, because it is not a local or skin disease, but a disease of the blood caused by a sour, acid condition of that vital fluid. The kidneys and bowels get weak, the liver torpid, and the poisonous accumulations that should pass off through the usual channels of nature are absorbed by the blood and distributed into the muscles, joints and nerves through the circulation, producing inflammation and swelling of these parts, excitement of the nerves and other painful and disagreeable symptoms of the disease. Rheumatism sufferers look with dread upon the winter season with its damp, cold, changing weather, for the first slight exposure is liable to bring on an attack, and the sharp, cutting pains and feverish, swollen joints and muscles make life miserable with almost unbearable torture. Local applications will often give relief for a little while, but can do no permanent good, because the trouble is not within their reach; and even while the symptoms are being relieved by such treatment the blood is becoming more heavily charged with the uric acid poison, and the next attack will be more severe. S. S. S. cures this disease by arousing to proper action all the sluggish organs and going into the blood, driving out all the acid and poisonous matter, renewing and strengthening it, and toning up the entire system by its fine tonic effect. It contains no Potash or other harmful minerals, but is purely vegetable and is recognized everywhere as the surest and safest blood purifier. Our special book on Rheumatism will be mailed free to all who write, and our physicians will give medical advice to all sufferers, without charge.

But the lively entertainments of the "Mecklenburg" do not end with the sports for the men; the ladies, too, have been provided for and charmed lately by Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hartman of the hotel were given a hay ride, in combination with a "possum hunt" on a beautiful moonlight night, which was pronounced by all participants to have been one of the most enjoyed parties that have been given guests this season, and is a practical illustration of the principles and practice of this place to see that every one has a most enjoyable time all the time here.

RADFORD.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) RADFORD, VA., Nov. 5.—The week has been well filled with social entertainments.

A treasure party was the first on the program. This was given by Mrs. W. A. Wilson to the Current Events Club Thursday afternoon and proved a novel and enjoyable affair. After the week's events in all parts of the world had been duly discussed, each guest exhibited some treasure she had fetched and narrated its history; old family heirlooms, wedding rings, and rare and beautiful things from across the seas contributing to the enjoyment of the company. Dainty refreshments were served, and in a short business session Mrs. E. O. Pryor and Mrs. Edwin R. Carter were elected members.

Mrs. Waverly N. Ragland gave a charming whist party Friday in honor of Mr. George W. Miles. Mrs. William Ingles won first prize and Mrs. George W. Miles second. The Misses Zanderline and the Misses Ragland served refreshments.

Mrs. J. M. Thomas entertained the Afternoon Idlers Wednesday at progressive bridge, many guests, in addition to club members, being present. The prize—a Virginia souvenir spoon—was won by Mrs. Clyde Miller, and the trophy—a silver bookmark—by Miss Virginia Heth. Elaborate and delightful refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Gertrude Venable and Miss Kathleen Clark.

A Halloween party, that was cleverly conceived and nicely carried out, was given by the Misses Nye Monday evening. The house was decorated with autumn leaves and lighted by Jack-o'-lanterns. In a dim corner of the back parlor was a gypsy tent, and on the hearth chestnuts and nuts awaited the coming of the guests. Little Miss Dossie Bullard, costumed to represent a bal, received the young gentlemen and ushered them into the parlor, where the girls, sheeted and masked, received them with slight and later chestnuts were roasted, nuts cracked, fortunes told and delightful refreshments served in the dining-room, the table being decorated in Halloween style. Supper was followed by music and dancing.

A hop was given in honor of Mr. Frank Jones, a former St. Albans student, from Birmingham, Ala., at Cotton Club Hall Wednesday night.

ART OF SIMPLE ENTERTAINMENT

Hospitality on Wane—"Guest Chamber Becoming Thing of the Past"—Simple Entertaining a Fine Art—Wherein It Consists—The Guest's Room, Afternoon or Evening Affairs, Refreshments.

By Margaret E. Sangster.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) HOLLADAY, VA., Nov. 5.—The Japanese Tea, announced some weeks ago, for the 28th, came off on Friday last, at the Prospect Hill school, and more than realized expectation, being a succession of well selected numbers, admirably carried out.

The house and lawn were bright with Chinese lanterns, which were an additional feature of appropriateness, as well as of beauty.

The programme was arranged chiefly with reference to the present interest in all that is oriental, due to the war between Russia and Japan. It was as follows:

The Ambassador's March—Engelmann. Duet by Miss Keeningsham and Miss N. B. Scott.

Gesture song, chorus by Misses Carle, Nel, Victoria, Hulda and Virginia Holladay. Cherry Blossom—Japanese Dance, Piano solo, by Miss N. B. Scott. Japanese Umbrella Drill, by Misses Keeningsham, Hardy, Harris, Coleman, Burruss.

The Maid of Japan, gesture song, by Miss Abbie Scott.

Chinese Flower Dance, by Misses Keeningsham, Burruss, Harris, Hardy, Coleman and Holladay.

Japanese Tea Party, Tableau Fan Drill, by Misses Scott, Keeningsham, Hardy, Burruss, Coleman, Yerger and Holladay.

The costumes were well designed, and brilliant, using the fine effects of Japanese taste in beautiful combinations, with gold and silver embroidery.

The Japanese coiffures were so amazingly pretty on American girls, that it is thought the western fashions may have to yield to those of the dim and distant east.

And the glimpse of Japanese social life in the tableau, "A Japanese Tea Party," was so dazlingly attractive, that it seems likely a change may soon take place in the forms of afternoon teas, such that Parisian modes in dress, and the use of chains may be things of the forgotten past.

The more substantial part of the entertainment, the oyster-supper, and the sale of fine Japanese tea, &c., from an enchanting corner of brilliant colors and Japanese lanterns, was eminently satisfactory. Money was spent with a lavish hand by the buyers, especially at the footstool of a charming Cumaeen styt. Miss Kimbrough, of Mississippi, who dispensed the oracles of wisdom, to the multitudes who flocked around her throne.

Especially thanks are due to the kind-hearted neighbors and friends who assisted the members of the school in their efforts, especially to Mrs. John W. Walker, who made the numbers of handsome flowers used in the beautiful Flower Dance, a sight even prettier than the gorgeous array of the members of this party have seen given by the Chinese court-troupe, St. Louis, the one from which that of Friday evening was taken. Much of the costume and queue, sustained admirably the character of a Chinese saleswoman, Ah Si.

The effect of the scenic part of the entertainment owes much to the stage-management of Mr. Will Yerger, of Greenwood, Mississippi, and Mr. John Waller Holladay of Holladay, Virginia.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER.

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Trouble, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent Eastern cities, by too close attention to business, too little exercise, and too much worry, finally began to pay nature's tax, in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of this chronic brought about a nervous irritability, making it impossible to apply himself to his business, and finally deranging the kidneys and bowels.

In his own words, he says: "I consulted one physician after another, and each one seemed to understand my case; but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former vigor, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking, I quit coffee, and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, but without any marked improvement."

"Finally had often advised me to try a well known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often purchased the newspapers and magazines containing the remedy, but never took any stock in advertised medicines, nor could believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case."

"To make a long story short, I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal, and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort."

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health, and before the two packages were gone I was certain the Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure completely, and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar, and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia."

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy, asking for information as to what the tablets contained, and they replied that the principal ingredients were a vegetable (grew in the tropics), male diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

"The root of the matter is this: the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system receive the nourishment which can be obtained from food. Stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength; they give a fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can increase its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of an good and wholesome remedy, you will have no need of nerve tonics and stimulants."

"All the Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years, yet probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble."
